busis of representation in the lower house of congress, provisions for a systematic national enumeration of the people of this country became a necessity. The constitution ordered that this enumeration should be made within three years after the first meeting of the first congress and within every subsequent term of any years in such manner as congress should direct. Political necessity thus forced upon the new republic the first national census of modern times.

Among the ancient peoples it is record-property were registered for purposes of invation.

In Engiand, William the Conqueror, to make more certain the collection of his revenues, ordered a general survey of his new kingdom, the results of which were embodies in the "Domesday Book." But the first census of the United States, taken in 1790, and having for its primary aim the distribution of political rights, material of the leaving of taxes was the instruction of the leaving of taxes was the instruction. nstead of the levying of taxes, was the The taking of the first census in 1790 consigning the work to the department of taken in conformity with the act of con- its own sake.

The act of 1799 made it the duty of the sionistic strokes, as smaller ones of line marshals of the United States courts in technique, or miniature portraits the several judicial districts to take the enumeration, appointing as many assis ants as they should deem necessary. Seventeen marshals and a comparatively small number of assistants, perhaps 600 were enough to canvass the country then one schedule and bearing on one subject, the population, but it supplied no blanks. Hence the schedules which have not een destroyed, and which are kept in and ruling far removed, show many va-garies of size from the neat uniformity of the schedules issued in later years by the census office. An enumerator of the 1790 census in North Carolina used a piece of wallpaper to inclose his returns, and in the second census a portion of the Edenton Gazette, bearing an essay by Benjamin Franklin on methods of relieving insomnia, was used as a cover for one of the schedules.

The results of the enumeration were transmitted to congress by President Washington Oct. 27, 1791, in a small report containing 56 printed pages. It showed a population of 3,929,214. It cost the government $44,377 to learn that.

Not Beauty Only

These whiter teeth mean safer teeth as well

No doubt the great reason why millions use Pepsodent is to get prettier teeth. It removes the

But science has more important objects. Pepsodent brings five effects, and all of them mean better tooth protection.

The ruinous film Film is that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays. Old methods of brushing do not effectively combat it. So it often lingers long. Pilm absorbs stains, making the teeth look cloudy. Countless teeth are thus made dingy. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food sub stance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Also of other serious troubles. Most of the tooth and gum attacks are now traced to that film.

Must combat it daily

After diligent research science has found two ways to combat that film. Many careful tests have proved them. Now leading dentists everywhere dvise their daily use.

Both are embodied in a modern tooth paste-Pepsodent. Every use attacks the film in two effective ways. It also brings three other results which have proved essential.

Fights starch and acid

Pepsodent does what fruit acids do. It munplies the salivary flow. It multiplies the starch di-gestant in the saliva, to digest starch deposits that cling. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, to neutralize the acids which cause tooth decay.

Those are Nature's great tooth-protecting agents. Every use of Pepsodent multiplies their powers. Effects are apparent

Millions now know the delightful effects. Any-one who will can quickly see and feel them. Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear. Then read the reasons in the book we send.
